THE TRUTH SOMETIMES NOT FOUND OUT UNTIL TOO LATE.

SUCH is often the case in regard to persons taking medicine. They are induced by plausible reasoning, false representation and doctrines, to employ medicines that, so far from being adapted to their disease or sickness, absolutely increase the symptoms, destroy the constitution, rack the whole system, and bring on a gradual decline, terminating in death; previous to the fatal termination, however, (but unfortunately too late), the truth is found out that the pills, mixtures, &c. they have been taking were composed of the most powerful and dangerous ingredients, prepared too by persons knowing nothing of disease or the nature of the medicines they recommended, depending altogether upon the "general doctrine of such impostors," that their medicines will "kill or cure." Be advised, then, if you find it necessary to take some medicine for purifying the blood and cleansing the bowels, to take nothing but Dr. Leidy's justly and deservedly celebrated SARSAPARILLA BLOOD PILLS, the only pills containing Sarsaparilla in the their composition—the safest and best as well as the most effectual that can be taken.

Old and young, at all times, without regard to weather, may take them without fear of taking cold, and without restraint from occupation or usual course of living. Upwards of 1,000 certificates have been published, various times, of their efficacy. More than 100,000 boxes have been sold in Philadelphia in twelve months. These facts go to prove their value, or so many never would be sold in so short a time, in a place where they are manufactured; this, however, arises in part from the fact that the manufacturer of them (Dr. Leidy) is well known at home as a regular physician and apothecary, knowing the true nature of diseases and of the medicines he recommends, attested by the most celebrated physicians, among whom are Dr. Nathaniel Chapman, Dr. Wm. Gibson, Dr. W. E. Horner, Dr. Samuel Jackson, Dr. Robert Hare, Dr. P. S. Physic, Dr. T. C. James, Dr. W. P. Dewees, Dr. J. Redman Cope, Rev. W. H. Delancy, Robert Adrian, L.L.D., &c. &c.

Orders for Dr. Leidy's BLOOD PILLS are daily received from the North, South, East, and West, and the most flattering accounts, from every direction, of their unparalleled success. A single box (25 cents) may save as many dollars, if taken in time, instead of the dangerous medicines now forced on the public, and by taking which persons so often find it necessary at last to take Dr. Leidy's Blood Pills, to counteract their injurious consequences.

They are prepared only, and sold Wholesale and Retail, at Dr. Leidy's Health Emporium, No. 191, North Second street, below Vine street, Philadelphia. And by apr 25-3m Agent for the District.

POWELL'S BALSAM OF ANISEED, for Coughs, Colds, Shortness of Breath, Asthma, &c.—This invaluable medicine has the extraordinary property of immediately relieving Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, difficulty of Breathing, and Hushiness in the Throat. It operates by dissolving the congealed Phlegm, consequently causing a free expectoration.

Those who are troubled with that unpleasant tickling in the throat, which deprives them of rest night after night, by the incessant cough which it provokes, will, by taking one dose, find immediate relief; and one bottle in most cases will effect a cure.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

SONG OF THE YOUNG WHIGS.

Air—"What Fairy-like Music."

Dedicated to the Newark Young Men's Club and Frelinghuysen Clubs by B. B. DOUGLAS.

HARK!—Hark! what sweet music
 Comes soft o'er the plain,
 Enchanting my heart with
 Its soul-melting strain?
 'Tis the song of the young Whigs,
 As they march to the fray
 Determined to conquer
 For their own HARRY CLAY.

List, list, to the cadence—
 It is rising again,
 Peeping up from the mountains
 To Heaven's blue plain—
 'Tis the song of the young Whigs,
 As they come in their might,
 To save their loved Country
 From Misrule's sad blight.

List, list, to their music,
 It is coming more near—
 Hark—list—to the words now
 As they ring on the ear—
 'Tis the song of the young Whigs,
 Through the Country they're rising,
 To place wreaths on the brow
 Of our own FRELINGHUYSEN.

See, see, their vast host,
 They are now wheeling past—
 List, list, to their shout,
 As it soars on the blast—
 'Tis the shout of the young Whigs;
 To the Traitor they say,
 "Your sentence is passed!
 Make room for our CLAY!"

THE PEASANT'S BRIDAL.

Stormannadalen (the Black Death) had raged through Norway, and cut off more than two-thirds of its population, and desolated whole extents of country and large populous districts. In Uldvig's Valley, in Hardanger, a young peasant of the name of Halgrim, alone, of all those who had died there, remained alive. He raised himself from the sick bed on which he lay surrounded by the dead, and went out in order to seek for living people.

It was spring, and the larks sang loud in the blue clear air; the birch-wood clothed itself in tender green; the stream, with its melting snow-drifts, wound down the mountains singing on its way; but no plough furrowed the loosened earth, and from the heights was heard no wood-horn calling the cattle at feeding time. All was still and dead in the habitation of men. Halgrim went from valley to valley, from cottage to cottage; everywhere death stared him in the face, and he recognised the corpses of early friends and acquaintances. Upon this, he began to believe that he was alone in the world, and despair seized on his soul, and he determined also to die. But as he was just about to throw himself down from a rock, his faithful dog sprang up to him, caressed him, and lamented in the expressive language of anguish. Halgrim bethought himself, and stepped back from the brink of the abyss; he embraced his dog; his tears flowed, and despair withdrew from his softened heart. He began his wandering anew. Thoughts of love led him towards the parish of Graven, where he had first seen and won the love of Hildegunda.

It was evening, and the sun was setting as Halgrim descended into the valley, which was as still and dead as those through which he had wandered. Dark stood the fir-tree trees in the black shadow of the rocky wall, and silently rolled on the river between the desolate banks. On the opposite side of the river a little wooded promontory shot out into the blue water, and upon the light green tops of the birch-trees played the last rays of the sun.

Suddenly it seemed to Halgrim as if a light smoke rose up from among the trees. But he trusted not his eyes; he stared upon it breathlessly. He waited, however, hardly a second, when he saw a blue column curling slowly upwards in the peaceful evening air. With a cry of joy Halgrim darted forwards, and waded through the stream, and soon stood on its opposite shore. Barking and whining, his dog ran onwards to the cottage whence the smoke ascended. Upon its hearth clearly burned the fire, and a young maiden stepped forward to the door—one cry of inexpressible joy, and Halgrim and Hildegunda lay in each other's arms! Hildegunda was also the only living person in her valley after the terrible visit of the Black Death.

On the following day, after mutual agreement, they went to church, and as there was no priest to marry them, and no person to witness the plighting of their faith, they stepped alone to God's altar, and extended to each other a hand, whilst Halgrim said with a solemn voice, "In the name of God the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost!"

And God blessed the faith plighted in His name. From this happy pair descended generations who peopled anew this region, and the names of Halgrim and Hildegunda are to this day in use among its inhabitants.

MACREADY THE TRAGEDIAN AND OLE BULL THE VIOLINIST.—These distinguished artists on their late Southern expedition met on board one of the Mississippi steamboats. Macready in his manner is exceedingly distant and reserved even with those with whom he is in daily intercourse, but more particularly so with strangers. He seldom smiles; tragedy being his rule, laughing the rare exception. The astonishment when a man would feel, may be imagined, when a seven foot Kentuckian familiarly put his arms around his neck and giving him a bear-like shake of affection, exclaimed, "Come, hoss, give us a song!" Macready having partially recovered from the shock of such an unusual and unceremonious attack, replied that he could not sing. "Oh come now, old hoss, I know you can." "I pledge you my honor," replied the tragedian, "I have not a singing note in my voice, but Mr. Ole Bull is on board, and he will doubtless give you some music." "What can he do?" "He plays on the violin." "Thank you, hoss, here goes;" and away went the Kentuckian in search of Bull. He was soon found, and was, perhaps, no less astonished than Macready, at the bug, the hoss, and the application. "Come, old Bull, hoss, out with the rosom, and give us 'Jack's alive' and I'll go round with the hat and get you a dollar or two; come, go it while you're young." Ole Bull with his usual good nature obliged the Kentuckian with his music, but offended him because he would neither drink, fight, or receive the money. A friend of ours who witnessed this incident, says that Macready for once forgot his tragedy and laughed outright.—Brooklyn Daily Adv.

CLOTHING AND FURNISHING ARTICLES.
 TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. BELOW NEW YORK AND BOSTON PRICES.—I have just returned from New York with a splendid assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres and Vestings, Gambroons, Gingham, Tweeds, Dradits, Neapolitan Trivels, figured and plain Satin Vestings, large assortment of French goods, with a good stock of fine Shirts, Collars, Bosoms, Scarfs, Stocks, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Socks, &c., &c.

The whole of the above goods have been purchased for cash in the New York market with great care, and having had twenty-five years experience, I flatter myself they are purchased equal, if not far lower, than any goods brought to this market.

I have now made a large assortment of Summer Clothing of the most approved styles, and still continue to make up.

Also, I will make clothes to order, and warrant them to fit, for the same prices.
